

Forum tonight on future of bus service

A public forum on whether or not Madison County should "stave off" massive cuts in public bus service here by creating a special transit district and levying a one-quarter-cent sales tax to subsidize Bi-State buses is to be held at 7:30 tonight at the Nameoki Recreation Center, 2165 Amos Ave.

The meeting will be the first event in a busy week to decide the future of public transportation in this area. Residents of areas where bus service may be curtailed are being asked to attend tonight's forum and show their support for creation of such a transit district.

A second meeting is scheduled for tomorrow night in Collinsville, where representatives of Madison, St. Clair and Monroe counties, the three counties involved in planned Jan. 1 bus route cuts, are to jointly discuss the issue.

The Madison County Board then will meet at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday in the county courthouse at Edwardsville to consider whether to levy the tax or to delay funding until county residents can vote on the proposal. Operation of the proposed transit district would be carried out by a three-man board appointed by the county board chairman.

Mayor Paul Schuler of Granite City said today that he will request of Nelson Hagnauer, chairman of the Madison County Board, that he (Schuler) be appointed to that board. If the county decides to create a special busing district.

Operation of the proposed transit district in Madison County would be carried out by the three-man board, appointed by the county board chairman, with concurrence by the county board members, it is proposed.

The board would have the authority to issue a one-fourth cent tax levy for public transportation. That and matching funds from the state would enable Bi-State to continue bus service here at the current levels, officials said.

The (transit) board controls how the money would be used and it will be possible to determine the future of bus service in this area," the mayor said.

The mayor's statement followed the filing of petitions signed by planned reductions would affect 13 regular routes and seven school bus routes, curtailing routes for about 1.5 million of the expected 2.3 million

Jan. 1, unless tax aid is offered, are: —The East Granite route, which has 55,837 route miles and 116,230 passengers in the 1979-80 fiscal year.

—The West Granite-Stockyards route with 91,469 miles and 135,670 passengers in the fiscal year.

—The Pontoon Express, with 99,947 miles and 174,550 passengers.

—The Granite City-Hazelwood Express, with 40,902 miles and 22,114 passengers.

Additional cuts are planned July 1, 1981, unless tax subsidies are received by then, Bi-State predicts.

The cuts are threatened Jan. 1 as the result of a reduction in state funding to Bi-State on that date. In the 1974 Downstate Public Transportation Act, the state legislature allocated 2.32nds of the state sales tax from the three counties to Bi-State.

That amount was not sufficient to meet the operating costs, so in 1980, the legislature increased the subsidy to 3.32nds, with the provision that local matching funds be provided by Jan. 1, 1981, in the three counties. If no local subsidies are provided, the state subsidy will drop to 1.32nd, and Bi-State will cut service accordingly, officials said.

If the local districts are established, the state funding level will revert to 2.32nds, or about a quarter-cent sales tax. The local districts also will be asked to levy a quarter-cent sales tax, bringing the Illinois subsidy to a half-cent, equal to what Missouri now gives Bi-State.

County decision is expected Wednesday

approximately 300 merchants and residents with the city council last week, asking that bus service be retained in the Granite City area. The petitions were presented to the council by Alderman Lloyd Bailey of the Fifth Ward after they were obtained in one day by Virginia Webb, 2807 Cayuga St.

The Bi-State Transit Agency has threatened to end four bus routes in this area on Jan. 1, unless local tax aid is provided by Madison, Monroe and St. Clair Counties. The cut and annual bus riders in Madison County, according to Bi-State figures.

Tonight's public meeting, which begins at 7:30 in the Nameoki Recreation Center, will be chaired by Mrs. Lois Wetton, an advocate of a local tax to keep the buses running. Among those expected to attend are Hagnauer, County Board Members Daniel Partney and Morris Miles, Bi-State's Illinois Liaison Officer Darryl Thompson and others.

Routes which Bi-State plans to end

The totals for the four routes in the last fiscal year were 288,095 route miles and 448,564 passenger trips. Yearly operating costs and the deficit per passenger, for those four lines, were $144,824 and $1.64, $240,555 and $1.57, $222,417 and $1.63, and $86,083 and $0.67, respectively, according to Bi-State figures.

Unless local funding is arranged, a reduction of about 20 percent is planned for the McKinley Bridge bus line, which had 349,886 miles and 521,284 passengers last fiscal year. A deficit of $1.48 per passenger trip was experienced on that line during the year.

City won't budge on treatment surcharge

By HARRY BARNES of the Press-Record

A suggestion that the city ordinance calling for a $10 quarterly surcharge for users of new sewers in the unincorporated areas be reduced to $5 was merely a discussion among a few persons at a meeting and does not reflect any action on the part of the city, Mayor Paul Schuler explained Friday.

The statement about the $5 surcharge was made by several parties that were not qualified to speak for the city, the mayor said, and therefore should be disregarded.

"I want to go on record as favoring the $10 surcharge and abiding by our present ordinance for a total quarterly fee of $23 to persons living outside the city who eventually use the new sewers," the mayor said.

"I believe that the users of the Nameoki-Venice-Chouteau sewers built by the county should pay their fair share of treatment cost. The surcharge would pay a share of the cost of building the treatment plant and secondary treatment plant on which city residents have been retiring bonds since the plant was built," the mayor said.

Granite City residents now pay $13 per quarter for treatment cost. Formerly they paid $6 a quarter. The mayor pointed out that the rise in locally-paid treatment costs was made

Two robbed of $1,150

Two men, one armed with a .38-caliber semi-automatic revolver, stole approximately $1,150 in cash from two men in the Solo Banks Grocery, 1106 Logan Street, Venice, at 10:20 p.m. Friday.

Joseph Banks Jr. and Anthony Matthews said they were in the grocery after closing counting money at the pool table when there was a knock at the door. When Banks went to the unlocked door, two men forced their way in, wearing nylon stockings on their heads, and one pointed a gun at the victims and said, "Give up all your money."

The other robber had a black leather case which he held open. He grabbed money from Matthews' hand while the other robber reached into Banks' rear pocket and took his wallet. They then took Matthews' wallet and ordered the victims to "Hit the floor. Don't move," police were told.

The robbers then ran out the door and escaped. The victims said the two were black youths, about 18 to 19 years old. Banks' wallet contained more than $350 in cash, a bank book and personal papers. Matthews' wallet contained about $800 in cash and personal papers, he reported.

Recession factor in grim revenue outlook of state government

Governor James R. Thompson warned the joint General Assembly veto session last week that a "grim" set of economic factors will limit state spending growth in the next fiscal year to less than half of this year's total growth.

"We can expect to have no more than about $400 million in new, uncommitted revenues. That is less than half of the $848 million in new spending we were able to commit for the current budget year," the governor said.

He cited the continuing effects of the recession, the cutoff of federal revenue sharing to states, and the reduction in Illinois revenue due to the phase-in of new individual and business tax relief.

Thompson said the financial outlook requires state government to "keep spending under control."

He urged lawmakers to hold the line by not overriding any of his fiscal vetoes, which total $425 million in excess spending for fiscal year 1981 and fiscal 1982.

The state should "do everything humanly possible to hold new general revenue spending to a bottom line that equals uncommitted new revenues: about $400 million, or five percent of current general revenue levels," Thompson said.

Alternatives to that, he said, include a tax increase, deep cuts in services, or spending the state's cash cushion, leaving the state "defenseless in an emergency."

He noted that Illinois' neighbors—Minnesota, Kentucky, Iowa, Indiana, Missouri and Michigan—all have experienced financial problems from the economic recession, while saying Illinois has remained on a solid financial footing.

"We brought the state back from the brink of bankruptcy and moved it forward," he said.

"Together, we brought spending into balance."

"We are today in the relatively calm eye of a fiscal storm that is sweeping over state governments throughout the nation. We are meeting today not in a crisis, but at a crossroads.

"Every dollar you approve over my veto will be one dollar more that will have to be taken out of the taxpayers' pocket," he told the Assembly.

To help apply the brakes to state spending, the governor reported he has frozen state hiring for 60 days and has imposed a two percent reserve requirement on all state agencies for the remainder of the present fiscal year, which ends June 30, 1981.

In addition, he said, he has ordered cabinet officers to take back their preliminary fiscal 1982 budget requests and pare them down.

He said he expects to receive a huge amount of expected requests from the Board of Education for $200 million more and the Board of Higher Education for $100 million more, total requests for 1982 total about $1.1 billion, in added spending, against the $400 million in new spending foreseen as possible.

To the extent we fail to heed the early warning signs we can now so clearly see, we have broken the promise of responsible, balanced government that was implicit in the good work we have done over the past four years," Thompson said.

He called for other constitutional officers, the state Boards of Education and Higher Education and all state agencies to join a united effort to hold down spending for the remainder of fiscal 1981 and in fiscal 1982, which starts July 1, 1981.

"My administration will do everything in its power to keep spending under control without slashing essential services," he said.

In his review of the state's financial situation, Thompson said:

The quarterly report from the bureau of the Budget confirms that the recession, inflation and the cost of new spending and tax relief already enacted will combine to push spending $115 million higher than revenues during fiscal 1981.

No more than $400 million in new, uncommitted revenues can be expected in 1982, less than half the $848 million in new spending possible in the present year.

Recovery from the recession is expected to be slower than in the past, meaning sustained welfare and Medicaid spending above normal levels.

Tax relief already on the books will lower revenues by an added $203 million in 1982, or up to $243 million if a third penny is subtracted from the sales tax on food and drugs.

Federal aid will keep declining, including the projected loss of $113 million in general revenue sharing which was used to underwrite school aid for the past eight years. Other cuts by the president and Congress appear certain in the months ahead, the governor concluded.

Circuit Breaker deadline Dec. 31

THRIFT POSTER CONTEST students of St. Elizabeth School earning recognition in the Madison County Federal Savings and Loan sponsored contest, in front, are: Melissa Gattung, left, first place among third and fourth graders; and on the right is Susan Selecka who earned a third in the fifth and sixth grade category; Caryn Kubeika, back left, second in grades-five and six; and Valerie Sobko, right, first place in seventh and eighth grade competition.

Illinois Director of Revenue J. Thomas Johnson has reminded senior and disabled citizens that applications for Circuit Breaker benefits for the 1979 claim year are due by December 31.

Circuit Breaker tax rebates are available to Illinois citizens with annual household incomes under $10,000 who are 65 years of age or older or who are permanently disabled, Johnson said.

He noted that applications for rebates of taxes paid in 1979 must be postmarked by the legal deadline of Dec. 31 in order for the state revenue department to be able to process them.

Under the program, property tax relief grants of up to $650 and additional grants of between $50 and $100 are available to qualified citizens, Johnson said. An applicant does not need to own his or her own home to qualify for a grant, he added. Persons who rent their residence or who live in nursing homes may qualify for one or both of these grants, Johnson said.

According to the state revenue director, 350,986 persons have received grants so far this year totaling more than $80.3 million for the 1979 claim year.

Application forms (IL-1363) are available from any Illinois Department of Revenue office, the Illinois Department on Aging, the Lt. Governor's Senior Action Centers, area legislators' offices and various senior citizen centers.

In addition, citizens may obtain applications by calling the Department of Revenue toll-free at (800) 252-8872. Applications also may be obtained by calling the Lt. Governor's Senior Action toll-free line (800) 252-6555 or calling DIAL (Disabled Individuals Assistance Line) (312) 793-5000 (call collect).

Cable TV gets baptism

The first two weeks of November included several long-awaited events for South-Western Cable TV.

After months of construction, two more communities are now connected into South-Western's network.

These are Pontoon Beach and Caseyville. This means approximately 30,000 homes can now receive South-Western's service. In addition, after months of preparation, assembly and training the regional studio opened with a premier live program on election night.

Channel 1 (the regional channel) was on the air from 7:30 until 10:30 with returns, interviews with local political figures and around-the-clock news clips of election day activities.

"That show was our baptism-by-fire," said Mary Hildebrand, director of local programming. "We thought that the Presidential election would be a cliff-hanger and would drag out during the evening. And we were expecting very early returns from the County because of the new computer."

"Neither one of these assumptions panned out and we still stayed on the air, even though the two major ingredients, presidential and county returns backfired," she said.

"The program was a true test of our local programming philosophy in that we had over 20 volunteers working with us that evening. Our guests were exposed to the potential of our local channel and were very excited about our long range plans for finally bringing local coverage of local events into our customers' homes," she continued.

In addition to the regional channel operation, South-Western has established a studio in Edwardsville. Until the telephone lines at the Edwardsville Studio are connected, those interested in doing programming should call 288-6177 in Maryville.

Some food stamp recipients to get public service jobs

Food stamp recipients will work at public service jobs in exchange for their food stamp benefits in fourteen communities across the country under a $1.5 million U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) pilot workfare program which will run through September 1981.

The city of Yuma, Ariz.; the consortium of Sebastian and Crawford counties, Arkansas; Logan County, Ark.; San Diego County, Calif.; Pinellas County, Fla.; the city of Evansville with Vanderburgh County, Ind.; Montgomery County, Maryland; the city of Grand Rapids, Mich.; the city of Springfield with Greene County, Mo.; the city of Nashua, N.H.; Berkeley County, S.C.; Greenville County, S.C.; Utah County, Utah; and Taxewell County, Va. were chosen to take part in the workfare project.

USDA and the U.S. Department of Labor have run pilot workfare programs in seven communities over the past year.

Congress authorized the original projects in 1977 food stamp legislation.

Legislation passed in May authorized the project to run for another year, and provided funds to reimburse the communities for half their cost in running the workfare programs.

Holiday blood drive planned

An opportunity for Quad-City area residents to donate blood will be provided on Dec. 29, 30 and 31 when a blood drive will be held at St. Elizabeth Medical Center under sponsorship of Church Women United.

A blood drive for Union Electric Co. employees only was held last week at the UE power plant in Venice.

In observance of national Blood Donor Month in November, Bernice C. Crimmins, 1530 Fifth St., Madison, a Red Cross volunteer, is stressing that "blood is a gift of life."

She said a recipient might comment, "I am alive, and the world changed for me today because someone cared and gave me the gift of life. We are linked together in a special bond because of their concern and my need."

She adds, "For the donor, giving blood is a unique way of caring about another human being."

"For the patient who needs blood in order to recover, a blood donation can literally be a gift of life."

"Science gives us miracles, but only you can give us blood. Share your miracle. Be a blood donor; feel good about yourself today, and help someone feel good tomorrow."

Way of Lights to open Friday

The National Shrine of Our Lady of the Snows is inviting the public to attend the 11th annual Way of Lights from Nov. 28 through Jan. 4.

Theme for this year's Way of Lights will be "Family." To help depict this theme, new, elegant sculptures representing different members of the family will be displayed.

Thanksgiving fuel plentiful

Motorists traveling on Thanksgiving Day should have little trouble finding gasoline. Fifty percent of the stations surveyed in the AAA Auto Club's monthly fuel survey said they planned to be open on Thanksgiving.

The survey, which includes 58 service stations in Missouri and nearby Illinois and Kansas, shows there has been little change in supplies and average prices during the past three months.

Of the stations contacted, 50 percent said they will close by 6 p.m. on Saturdays (48 percent in October, 49 percent in September); 69 percent will be open some hours on Sundays (71 percent in October, 15 in September); and 24 percent will close by 6 p.m. on Saturdays (36 percent in October, 35 percent in September).

Average gasoline prices are nearly the same as they were last month. The average price for self-service unleaded gas is the only average that shows a change — from $1.20 to $1.21 per gallon.

The survey shows there is still a wide fluctuation in high and low prices within the survey area.

Prices for full-service regular gas range from $1.13 to $1.29 per gallon and prices for full-service regular unleaded vary from $1.14 to $1.33 per gallon.

Self-service prices also show a wide variation, from $1.06 to $1.20 for regular and $1.17 to $1.27 for regular unleaded.

Thanksgiving services at 1st Church of Christ

A special Thanksgiving service will be offered on Nov. 27 at First Church of Christ, Scientist, 2560 Delmar Ave.

All are welcome to attend, and care will be available for very young children, Meyers added.

City won't budge

necessary because "the sewers built by the county didn't come into use when they were scheduled."

Schuler's opinion in the rate battle being waged between a county-appointed sewer committee and the city of Granite City was seconded by Alderman Sam Whitmer during a regular council meeting last week.

Whitmer told the other aldermen: "There is going to be a real fight if anyone tries to charge an $18 fee ($10.50 per quarter recommended by a county-hired auditing firm plus a $5 surcharge).

"The people of Granite City have been paying for years on that (sewer treatment) plant and now the county wants a rate cheaper than what we're in the city pay."

"I will fight any reduction of the surcharge and I think the users of the city should pay $25 per quarter."

He said this payment would be the same treatment rate now paid by city users, plus the $10 surcharge, which was set by ordinance a long time ago. The discussion of the possibility of the city reducing the $10 surcharge to $5 occurred during negotiation with the Madison County Sewer Committee two weeks ago.

Louis Whitsett, chairman of the sewer committee, contended during the sewer committee's last meeting that sewers in some areas could now be in use if Granite City would accept recommendations of an accounting firm that residents of the three township sewer area pay $10.50 quarterly for treatment and retirement of bonds for the sewer treatment plant.

Meanwhile, Helen Hawkins, a representative of Namekoi Township residents, maintained that erroneous information was given the Press-Record that a lawsuit filed against the sewer project in 1975 kept the original contract between the city and the county on treatment fees from going into effect.

She alleges that the suit by residents of the area was filed in 1976, effecting the time on actual use of the sewers. The statement, protested by Mrs. Hawkins came from Terry McMillan, superintendent of the treatment plant, who later admitted he was in error on the date the suit was filed, Mrs. Hawkins said.

Man held on $50,000 bond

Being held on $50,000 bond in the Madison County jail is Marvin Dale Berry, 32, with no permanent address, but generally of the greater St. Louis area.

Berry is charged with possession of a stolen vehicle and is under investigation for other charges, according to Lt. Robert Hertz of the Madison County Sheriff's department.

He was arrested last week in Room 7 of the Sun Motel on Chain of Rocks Road.

Madison County deputy Raymond J. Rogers, when making a routine check of license plates of cars, in all area motel parking lots, found a car with stolen plates.

Further investigation revealed the car had been stolen from St. Louis County.

Faces 4 charges after scuffle

Howard C. Dougherty, 26, of 829 Niedringhaus Ave., who also uses the name Sonny Martin, according to police, was charged with aggravated assault, criminal trespass to property and two counts of disorderly conduct after an alleged disturbance in the front yard of the home of Philip Szymarek, 2425 State St., at 6:25 p.m. Friday.

Szymarek alleged that Dougherty came into his yard, threatened and cursed Szymarek and Szymarek's former wife, and challenged the resident to come outside and fight. When Szymarek called police, Dougherty left the property, but returned while police were present and again yelled threats and obscenities, it is alleged.

As officers approached him, Dougherty allegedly removed his coat, took a Karate stance and yelled, "There ain't enough of you... to take me."

Additional officers arrived and a small amount of force was used to handcuff Dougherty and place him in a squad car, the police reported.

He was jailed until 10:50 a.m. Saturday, when he posted $275 cash bond and he was released, pending a court appearance.

Two-day trash pickup Friday

Trash collections normally made on Thursday will be picked up Friday, along with the regular pickups made the same day.

HELD ON COMPLAINTS

Willie "Bull" Shirden, Venice, is being held in the Venice city jail on signed complaints charging him with disorderly conduct and battery. He allegedly was seen by Venice police at 10:50 p.m. Sunday at Bissell street and Line alley choking a lady.

Investigating theft, man held

A 20-year-old man from Paducah, Ky., was being held Friday for investigation of theft. He was arrested at 12:05 a.m. Friday at the home of a relative in Granite City in connection with the removal of several items from a house where he had attended a party earlier that evening.

Miss Curtis, 305 Wilson Park Lane, told police the man was among several people who were at the dwelling and it was believed he had gone into the bedroom during the event. The man was reported missing from her room where a class pendant, two turquoise necklaces, two gold chains, a gold cross, a necklace, a heart-shaped opal ring, two watches, an identification bracelet, an opal ring, a Playboy pendant, turquoise rings, several old coins and dollar bills, and other assorted costume jewelry and earrings.

The man was located by a Madison County sheriff's deputy at the home of a relative, who told police two men who were at the party came to the house where the man was staying and wanted to talk to him, saying the man had stolen certain items.

The man denied stealing the items, but the relative saw a watch hanging on his belt, grabbed it and turned it over to the deputy.

A while waiting for a Granite City officer to arrive at the dwelling, the man allegedly went into a rear yard.

With permission of the relative, the officer searched the yard and an assortment of old coins and currency was recovered from beneath a tile. The remaining items were still listed as missing Friday.

Man stabbed twice Sunday

A Madison County deputy stopped a car being driven in an erratic manner at 1:55 a.m. Sunday, at Marville Road and Pine Street and reported that the driver, Victor Couch, 27, of Virginia, appeared to be in pain.

The deputy then noticed blood on his shirt. Couch said he was stabbed twice, once in the stomach and once in the leg. He said the stabbing came to a halt at a tavern which he refused to name.

Couch refused medical treatment at first, but then changed his mind and was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center, where he was treated and released, according to authorities. Deputies believe the stabbing resulted from an argument, last week and are investigating the incident.

Will there be snow for Christmas?

If Robert Frost were placing bets on his snowing on Christmas day, he wouldn't put too much money on the stakes.

Frost, an instructor of weather at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, said there is only a one-in-three chance of its actually snowing on Christmas day.

"Of the past 84 years, we've had a Christmas snow only 28 times," said Frost. "We might have snow on the ground, but the possibility of its actually snowing on Christmas is not too good."

In ranking the months having the most snow, December falls in fourth place, January leads the list with an average of five inches of snow a month, followed by March with 4.6 inches, February with 4.2 inches, and December with 3.7 inches. Falling behind December is November with 1.4 inches and April with 2 inches.

"This cuts down the chances of having a white Christmas," said Frost. "But Christmas falls toward the end of December, and the closer to January it is, the better chance we have of getting snow."

Frost said the best conditions for snow are when the air temperature is between 27 and 32 degrees.

"The higher the temperature, the more moisture air can hold," said Frost. "That's why the heaviest snowfalls occur when the temperatures are around the freezing mark."

In the last seven years, the amount of snowfall recorded has been above the 19-inch per-year average, but Frost predicts a change in this trend.

"We shouldn't have a long cold winter and we shouldn't have the snowfall like we've had the past seven years," said Frost.

Frost based his prediction for a mild winter on the extreme heat wave the area experienced this summer. "If people remember the 1953-54 winter, we had only 1.5 inches of snow the entire year," said Frost. "That's when the area got over one of the worst heat waves it ever had."

"I'm not saying we'll only get one or two inches of snow, but the trend shows after a hot summer, we don't have heavy snowfalls in the winter."

Based on Frost's predictions, this winter should be relatively mild with only a one-in-three chance of its snowing on Christmas day.

As we hear the late Bing Crosby crooning "I'm Dreaming of a White Christmas," it probably will be just that - a dream.

CHRISTMAS LIGHTS. Workers at the National Shrine of Our Lady of the Snows are shown putting up Christmas lights on one of the electro-art sculptures that will illuminate the 11th Annual Way of Lights, November 28 through January 4. The Way of Lights, sponsored by the Shrine Oblates and Layman's Association, can be seen nightly from 5 to 10. Children's shows will be held in the Visitors Center from 6 to 9 p.m., featuring live puppet shows, a Christmas film, and a slide program. The Way of Lights and Children's shows are open to everyone free of charge.

School visits by presidential scholar group

Presidential scholars and their mentors at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville are visiting high-ranking students at area high schools this fall, explaining merits of the program which has brought 60 young people to study at the university.

Ik-Ju Kang, chairman of the department of physics and chairman of the Presidential Scholars Committee, said more than 20 high schools are being visited by groups of scholars and their faculty advisers, accompanied by counselors from the university's Office of Admissions and Records. Coordinating the visits are counselors George Woods, Beth Pantell and Jim Rotter; 20 members of the faculty are assisting.

Launched in 1978, the Presidential Scholars Program has made possible for 20 students to be selected each year to receive four-year scholarships, special academic status and individualized educational opportunities.

The chairman of the program said a number of steps are being taken this year to "enrich" the opportunities being provided for the scholars to have luncheon meetings with business and industrial leaders, and arrangements are being made for scholars to apply for attendance at national professional meetings during their senior year of study.

Professor Kang has announced the appointment of R. Eugene Freeman, director of the Teacher Corps Project in the School of Education, to serve as chairman of the alumni affairs subcommittee.

"We are proud of our presidential scholars," Kang said. "They are near the top of their classes, and we believe it will be increasingly important to maintain ongoing relationships with them after they become alumni."

Feb. 2 is the deadline for persons to indicate an interest in the 1981 Presidential Scholars Program. Nominations are to be submitted to Prof. Kang or Eugene Magac, acting director of the Office of Admissions and Records. Semifinalists will be notified March 13, and about 20 scholars will be selected and notified by April 14. They will be honored at a luncheon reception in May.

Endorse requests for mobile homes

The Madison County Board Wednesday morning will be asked to approve special use permits for the placement of five mobile homes in Quad-City area townships.

The county's Zoning Board of Appeals has recommended approval of the five requests after having held on-site public hearings. Mobile homes endorsed for Nameoki Township are for Jimmy E. Dix at 2012 Hildebrand Ave., Cloverleaf Addition, and Stanley A. Earhart at 2132 Alton Ave., Cloverleaf Addition. The zoning board is recommending that the permits be granted only for up to five years.

Venue township requests are for Paul L. Whitford at 1335b West Pontoon Road, for his lifetime, and to Beverly Hayes, owner, and Monte Rapp, mobile home occupant, for a mobile home at 2609 Logan St., for up to five years.

Also recommended for approval is a request by Elsie Bauck to place a mobile home in Chouteau Township, on Chouteau Island, north of Interstate 270, for up to five years.

All of the recommendations are with the stipulation that the mobile homes be used only for the occupancy of the petitioners and their families.

Alleges man takes picture

Kevin A. Geisler, 21, of East Alton, was arrested and charged with theft at 4 p.m. Thursday outside Pantara's Pizza, 1335 Johnson Road.

Geisler allegedly took a framed picture of a hot air balloon from the wall near the entrance to pizza parlor and then left the building.

His alleged action was observed by an off-duty Madison County sheriff's deputy who followed Geisler outside and held him until local police arrived at the scene.

Geisler was released a short time later on payment of a $35 cash bond.

Frohardt students learn basic photography

Center — Bob Michaels, left, develops a print as Jon Lottstutter watches. The scene was staged for this photo as developing of films and prints must be done in a darkroom.

Far right — Becky Whitehead makes an enlargement of a photo using an enlarger. This process also must be done in a darkroom.

Photography. Not the run-of-the-mill class for elementary school students, unless of course you're in fifth or sixth grade at Frohardt School.

Five students at the school are now learning the basics of photography from none other than their principal, Gary Pfroender. The lucky first five are Jon Lottstutter, Becky Whitehead, Bob Michaels, Gary Hagopian and Rick Timmons.

The class is being sponsored by the school's PTA. To help offset some of the costs of the program the students are selling 5 x 7 prints for $1.

The complete process of photography is being taught to the students. From understanding the operation of single lens reflex (SLR) cameras to the making of enlarged prints, the children are learning what it takes to make photography.

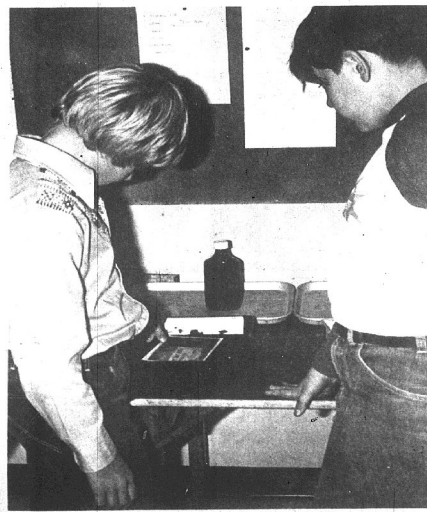

Areas covered in the class include a working knowledge of the chemistry of photography, understanding that light sensitive chemicals make photography possible, mixing the needed chemicals, developing the film, making the prints, but first, of course, the taking of the photos.

The students are regularly given assignments of activities in their school and community. Teachers also may request a photographer to take photos of a class project.

These photos are then put on display in the school the following day.

The goal of the class is to have 15 to 20 students trained during the school year, with the first five teaching five others then those newcomers repeating that process.

Photography. An elementary school class? Not traditionally, but at Frohardt School it could be the beginning of a tradition.

Children and the family

(This is the tenth in a series of 15 articles exploring "American Families in Transition." In this article, psychologist Kenneth Keniston analyzes how the child's role in the family has changed over time. Copyright (c) 1980 by the Regents of the University of California.)

By KENNETH KENISTON

Despite all the talk about the "collapse" of the family, parents remain central to children.

Ninety-eight out of every hundred American children today grow up in families—and the other two, confined to institutions, almost always wish they did.

For the overwhelming majority of Americans, the family is the place where they themselves grew up, and where they expect to raise their own children.

Efforts to find alternatives to the family as a way of rearing children have, in America, usually been disastrous.

As far as children are concerned, the essence of a family is an intimate relationship with an adult whose ties to the child go beyond immediate, narrow self-interest.

Professor Urie Bronfenbrenner has called these "irrational," by which he does not mean that they are nonsense, but merely that they are altruistic.

A father who gets up at 3 a.m. to nurse a sick daughter rarely gets much immediate pleasure from the activity; he does it because he wants what is good for her.

Mothers who take boring jobs outside the home often work not because they love their "careers," but because they want to provide better for their children.

The quality of parent-child relationships clearly affects the way children grow psychologically.

The behavior and values of parents are the matrix in which children's sense of right and wrong develops. Parents' example and teaching help the child to regulate his or her own emotions and impulses. Families remain the primary influence on the development of children in their early years.

CHANGED RELATIONSHIPS.

But at the same time, families HAVE changed in their relationships with children, and in ways that many Americans find upsetting.

—One of the main changes is a decrease in the self-sufficiency of the family.

Two hundred years ago, an American farm family grew or made most of what it needed to care for children.

Today, a cash economy provides most Americans with a higher standard of living, but it also means that we pay others to build our homes, grow our food, make our clothes, and entertain us. The result: parents depend far more on others for the necessities of bringing up children.

—A second, related change is the disappearance of the family as an economic unit.

On the traditional family farm, husband, wife and children cooperated as a team in farm work. Even today, many children in a household dominated largely by adults.

—Children are also affected by variations in the structure of the family itself. But in the past, the norm—and to a lesser degree, the rule—was the father-mother-children family, with the mother at home assuming primary care of the children.

Even when fathers left farms to work for wages, most mothers who could afford to do so stayed at home, working as "homemakers."

Now, this traditional structure has changed in several ways. Most important is the entry of women into the paid labor force; today, a majority of married women with school-age children work for pay outside the home.

Important, too, is the growing number of families with only one parent present. Although fewer families are "broken" today by the death of a parent, many more are transformed by divorce. And a growing number of children are born to and kept by mothers who are not married.

At present, about one of six children is living with one parent (usually the mother), while one of every three children will spend SOME time between birth and age 18 in a single-parent family.

For the children, raising children alone often faces economic hardships that have serious consequences for the children.

Most unmarried mothers must work if their families are to survive. They depend on some form of daycare for their children.

Today, an American child starts nursery school or the equivalent at age three or four, and until the average age of twenty spends the better part of every weekday in the company of unrelated children and teachers in school.

Inevitably, parental influences are today supplemented in new ways by the influence of peers and school personnel.

FAMILY SIZE AND STRUCTURE.

—A fourth family change that dramatically affects children is the reduction in family size.

Eight or more children to a family were common in colonial New England, and four or five in the 19th Century. Today, most parents have one or two.

Instead of growing up in a family dominated by the hustle and bustle of brothers and sisters of widely different ages, children today are usually the only child or one of two children in a household dominated largely by adults.

—Children are also affected by variations in the structure of the family itself. But in the past, the norm—and to a lesser degree, the rule—was the father-mother-children family, with the mother at home assuming primary care of the children.

Even when fathers left farms to work for wages, most mothers who could afford to do so stayed at home, working as "homemakers."

Now, this traditional structure has changed in several ways. Most important is the entry of women into the paid labor force; today, a majority of married women with school-age children work for pay outside the home.

Important, too, is the growing number of families with only one parent present. Although fewer families are "broken" today by the death of a parent, many more are transformed by divorce. And a growing number of children are born to and kept by mothers who are not married.

At present, about one of six children is living with one parent (usually the mother), while one of every three children will spend SOME time between birth and age 18 in a single-parent family.

For the children, raising children alone often faces economic hardships that have serious consequences for the children.

Most unmarried mothers must work if their families are to survive. They depend on some form of daycare for their children.

Our society has been slow to respond to their need. We have abated about whether daycare can replace a mother's care. But for millions of children, that choice is not available.

They will either be cared for in school or daycare centers, or they will be latch-key children cared for inadequately by slightly older brothers and sisters at home.

Most single-parent families eventually become two-parent families through the (re)marriage of the single parent.

Thus, today's children are likely to experience a greater variety of family forms — two-parent families, single-parent families, reconstituted families.

The data are not all in yet to allow us to predict how this varied experience will affect children's development, happiness, and ability to adapt as they grow into adulthood.

Studies of divorce reveal that children do suffer when their families are disrupted, but they also survive.

If their step-parents are responsible, nurturing people, children in reconstituted families may develop trusting relationships with a large set of adults and may acquire an extended kin network in a new form.

GENERAL COORDINATOR.

—Finally, the role of parents themselves vis-a-vis children has changed from do-it-yourself to general coordinator.

Yesterday's parents were usually able to provide directly a large part of what children needed—materially, psychologically, educationally, morally.

Of course, parents in today's changed families still provide much of what is most important to their children's development:

love, constancy, support, discipline, example and precept.

In addition, however, parents have a new role as those who try to harmonize all of the other influences on a child's life.

Thus, parents shop for food, choose housing, buy clothes, monitor television, meet with teachers.

They hire pediatricians, consult experts, arrange lessons, chauffeur children to playmates, and so on.

This new role is difficult, as any parent can testify—especially if the parents' desire to respond to the particular needs of the child finds no response in the goods and services available to them in the marketplace.

Does all this mean that parents are obsolete and the family is collapsing? Not at all.

Unquestionably, the family as a child-rearing institution is changing—far more rapidly than our ideas about it.

But the beginning of wisdom is to realize that what remains constant, even in different times and in new family contexts, is the special quality of love between parents and children.

That is what the "socializing function of the family" is all about. And it persists—sometimes against great odds—in today's changed families.

Warrior spikers to face Wood River tonight

By TOM SCHOCKER
of the Press-Record

EAST ST. LOUIS — Power. Sheer power. You might want to associate those terms with a baseball slugger. But how about a volleyball player? After Thursday night's match here between the Granite City South Warriors and the Tigers of East St. Louis-Lincoln, you wouldn't think the girls on the floor could hit the ball so hard. There's no other way to describe it, though.

The Warriors and Tigers tangled in the championship match of the ISHA Class AA State Volleyball District Tournament. It was a game that showed the awesome strength of a head-to-head clash between two power-house squads. South walked away with a 15-5 and 15-10 win, advancing them to the Sectional Tournament in Collinsville tonight. South (15-9) will face Wood River (14-3) at 8 tonight at Collinsville's Vandallia Gym.

South entered the game having been nailed by Lincoln earlier in the season. They were also playing in the Tigers' lane. To top it off, there was a noticeable difference in fan support. "I knew the crowd would pick them (Lincoln) up," said South head coach Wilma Schulte. "We were prepared for it, though. I told the girls what they were in store for them." The Warriors knew the situation and met it head on.

Throughout game one, it looked like the idea was to see who could hit the ball harder. Both teams took turns driving the ball into the floor. A feat that was met nearly everytime by superb defensive plays. The game couldn't have been played better by either team. South just managed to look far superior.

The contest saw-sawed for the first rotation of serves. Then, with the Warriors' Sherry Dilday on the addressing end of the ball, South made the distinction of being a good team to that of an awesome one. A couple of spikes from Chris Boyd and a clutch block from Karen Spencer and Julie DeRuntz and the Warrior blew the game wide open. The Lincoln crowd didn't have much to say as South lacked up seven unanswered points and a 13-4 lead.

"We have never really come out as a fighter," said Tiger head coach Terry Walker. "It usually takes us a game to get going. We have pulled out a number of comeback wins. We just have played like that all season." The brief warm-up period has worked well for the Tigers. They came into this match with a very respectable 17-6 mark. But the time to loosen up should have been before the match, not during it. The way the Warriors were playing, it might have taken Lincoln all night to get ready.

The Warriors didn't bother to let up. Boyd went back to work with her power show and South was on its way to prove the first meeting between these two clubs was ancient history.

South exploded to an 8-2 advantage. It was just a matter of time. However, that time was well used by the Tigers to "get things going," as Walker phrased it.

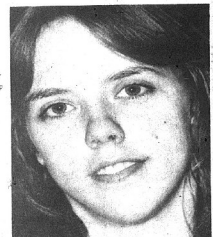

It was time for Lincoln's tower of strength to enter the scene. Debra Powell was relatively quiet for most of the game and a half that had elapsed. But her team was in deep trouble and she came to the rescue.

Probably a harder hitter than Boyd, Powell erupted for a number of spikes. Six in all in the second game. Lincoln's comeback style was in full gear and the crowd knew it and responded. "Whenever you win the first game really easy, any team can come back strong," said Schulte. "They know they have to win or lose the whole match. We knew Powell would be hitting the ball good. She's a fine looking player."

The Tigers were sparked and drew within two points twice, once at 10-8 and again at 12-10. But South would not give in and fold. It was like

Chiefs add to Cards' misery with late win

By KEVIN ALLEN
of the Press-Record

ST. LOUIS — Call it whistling in the dark. Call it ego massaging. Whatever, the topic of conversation in the St. Louis Cardinal locker room following Sunday's 21-13 loss to Kansas City turned, almost to a man, to professionalism.

Kick return specialist Roy Green, whose fourth-quarter fumble of a Chiefs' punt set up Kansas City's go-ahead touchdown.

"It was just a dumb play on my part. I caught the ball, but someone stripped it from me. I guess you could say I lost the game, but I'm supposed to be a professional and those things shouldn't happen."

Quarterback Jim Hart, who completed only five of 29 attempted second half passes.

"Every week things are going to break down. Call it don't expect breakdowns in every phase of your game. We're aware of what's going on. We're professionals. At halftime every body was talking about it. Everyone was saying 'We can't let it happen again. We can't blow another lead.'"

Even head coach Jim Hanftan, sour after yet another blown lead, took up the professionalism theme: "I have to say, I'm not very happy with myself as the coach of a professional football team that's 3 three and nine. I don't think I'm a very damn good coach at this point."

The Cardinals — these professionals — were offering no excuses for their fifth disappointing loss in as many weeks. There were no excuses. The scoreboard took care of that.

The team once heralded as the Cardiac Cardinals now seem to be suffering from a faculty pacemaker.

The play that epitomized the Big Red's futility was also the one that won the game for the Chiefs.

With just over five minutes left in the fourth quarter, Kansas City led 14-13. Cardinal punter Larry Switzer hung a high, 43-yard punt to the Chiefs' 25.

J. T. Smith gathered the ball in and headed upfield, apparently into the heart of the charging Cardinal punt return unit. Only Smith seemed to sail through the dismay of Switzer and Ken Stone, who helplessly chased the return specialist into the end zone.

"We had good coverage," Hanftan said, of the disastrous play. "But Smith is dangerous and we knew it. What bothered me was the grabbing and tackling. We were trying to get away with it."

The Chiefs' big play came on the heels of another crucial special teams mistake by the Cardinals. When the Chiefs' second possession of the quarter spluttered, Bob Grupp was forced to punt.

His kick from the 20 was taken by Green on the St. Louis 37. But 10 yards upfield, Kansas City's Jerry Reese Stripped the ball away and teammate Ed Beckman fell on it.

Five minutes and 11 plays later, Kansas City tied the game when Steve Fuller dumped a low pass to Arnold Morgado and watched the running back toll into the end zone.

The play completely erased the Big Red's 10-0 first-half lead and spread waves of dissent through the big crowd filling Busch Stadium.

Given the Cardinals' recent history, though, the spectators should have known something was up when they saw St. Louis stike early in the game.

Just two minutes into the game, after the Big Red marched 49 yards in seven plays, Neil O'Donoghue kicked a 40-yard field goal.

Then on the Cardinals' next possession Otis Anderson fumbled over from the two, capping a four-play, 55-yard drive.

The key play in the march, though, belonged to Hart and wide receiver Mel Gray. On the Kansas City 42, Hart dropped a short pass to the right flat. Gray scooped it up, but finding no running room circled back toward the left sideline.

Behind a wall of blockers including most notably Hart, Gray scampered down to the two-yard line.

In the second half, though, the old, tired pattern repeated itself once again. And the results were dismal as usual.

Morgado scored the Chiefs' first TD of the game midway through the third quarter on a dive from the one after a 6-play, 62-yard drive.

O'Donoghue made it 13-7 with a 43-yard field goal on the ensuing Cardinal possession.

Then came the fumbled punt return, the resulting Kansas City go-ahead score, and the long kick return by Smith.

For Hanftan, the team's problems are more an individual matter than a collective failure.

"Anytime you don't win you better check yourself first," he said. "All we can do now is try to find out what we're wrong."

The most difficult thing about it is we've got guys playing up to, and in some cases beyond their level of ability. To categorize them in an all-inclusive statement about team mistakes is a shame."

Trojans win opener easily

MOUNDS, Ill. — The Madison Trojan basketball team opened its 1980-81 season with an easy victory here Friday night over Mounds-Meridian 91-53.

Madison, which placed fourth in the state class 1A tournament last season, was led by Morris Hughes and Patrick Joe Hatter. Hughes pumped in 22 points, Hatter had 21. Other leading Trojans were Mark Zarr with 14 points and Charles Claggett 12. Meridian was led by Kevin Easley with 20 points.

The Trojans led 30-13 at the end of the first quarter and 51-29 at halftime.

Madison also won the junior varsity game, 57-43.

Cougar Kickers fall in Regional to Mustangs, 2-0

DALLAS — There will be a new NCAA Division I national soccer champion.

Defending champion Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville was ousted here Sunday in the first round of the Midwest Regional Division I playoffs by Southern Methodist University's Mustangs 2-0. And the loss was typical of SIU-E's topsy-turvy season.

The Cougars outshot the SMU Mustangs 14-10, had an apparent goal called back and had a shot into an empty net that was saved miraculously by SMU's All-America goal keeper Randy Phillips.

The victory for SMU means that the Mustangs will travel to St. Louis next Sunday to play St. Louis University's Billikens for the Regional championship at 1:30 p.m. Tentative plans are for the game to be played at Lindenwood College in St. Charles.

Southern Methodist scored what turned out to be the only goal it needed at the 33:41 mark of the first half when Mustang Dave Easterling took a beautiful feed pass from teammate Nasser Sabetpour and put it past SIU-E goalie Ed Gettemeier. What a time for Easterling to pick to score. It was not only the junior's first goal of the season,

Defending NCAA champs drop opener

but his first ever in three seasons playing for SMU.

The Mustangs' second goal of the game came just 36 seconds into the second half. A shot by senior Kamal Khalidhan from about 20 yards out banged into the right up post and dribbled into the net.

But SIU-E's Cougars weren't without their chances. At the 63:00 mark of the game, Cougar Matt Malloy hit a booming shot that Phillips batted down as he fell. The ball appeared to be over the goal line, but the Southern Methodist defense kicked it out anyway. Referees ruled that only two-thirds of the ball was over the line — not the whole ball. Therefore, no goal.

Just 15 seconds later, SIU-E almost scored again. Cougar Terry Trushel, a fullback moved to forward, had a wide open net staring him in the face. But he let go with a weak shot that allowed Phillips enough time to get over and make the save.

The shutout was Phillips' sixth of the season.

The closeness of the game is evidenced by looking at the numbers: SIU-E didn't take its first 14 shots on goal until 33:34. The first shot by SMU came 17 minutes into the game. The Cougars and Mustangs each had seven corner kicks. Each goalie made four saves. SMU was called for 29 fouls, SIU-E for 23.

The loss ends SIU-E's season at 10-9-2, while SMU raised its mark to 14-1-2.

Steamers get three goals from Ebert in second win

STEVE PECHER of the St. Louis Steamers passes off to a teammate Thursday night in the team's opening game victory over Baltimore. St. Louis ran its record to 2-0 Saturday with a win at Denver.

Special to the Press-Record
DENVER — It only took Don Ebert two games to get untracked in the Major Indoor Soccer League.

Ebert, a rookie from STU-Edwardsville, scored a three-goal hat trick here Saturday night, leading the St. Louis Steamers to a 7-5 comeback victory over the Denver Avalanche.

The "SIU-E Connection" did pretty well for the Steamers. Besides Ebert's three goals, the Steamers got the go-ahead goal from former Southern Illinois star Greg Makowski with only 5:13 remaining in the game. Ebert's third goal was into an empty net with 27 seconds left.

"This was just one of those games," said Steamers head coach Pat McBride. "We just had to keep fighting and fighting."

Althoff edges DeKalb for 4A state crown

Special to the Press-Record
NORMAL — The football season came to a close here Saturday for Belleville Althoff. And it was a happy ending.

Althoff's Crusaders, the Gateway East Conference champions, became the state Class 4A champions with a 107 victory over DeKalb in the title game. And they came from behind and relied on a stout defense to do it. Althoff trailed 7-3 early in the third quarter when Mike Laney scored a touchdown on a 38 yard run. It came on a simple draw play. Laney ran straight through the DeKalb line, wavered left, broke two tackles and went on for the score.

"I think we were a little tight in the first half," said Althoff coach Glenn Schott. "We were hitting hard, but we weren't tackling. But we started coming around in the second half and dominated the rest of the game. These men don't quit. They don't know how."

Althoff controlled things from the line of scrimmage after DeKalb scored its touchdown (which gave the Barbs a 7-0 lead). That DeKalb touchdown came with 40 seconds remaining in the first quarter. Halfback Jim Schmidt ran 12 yards on a draw play. The extra point completed the Barbs' scoring for the day — and the season. After that, it was all Althoff. But DeKalb quarterback Mike Bejbl didn't go down without a fight. The talented senior filled the air with passes that most of the time were dropped, just missed the mark or were batted down, by alert Althoff defenders.

"We were concerned about putting pressure on the quarterback (Bejbl)," said Schott. "We noticed on the game films that nobody had been doing it all year, so we did."

Althoff quarterback Jeff Junker made good on a 38-yard field goal attempt with 25 seconds left in the first half to bring the Crusaders within four points at 7-3.

Althoff, ended its season with a 12-1 mark, its lone loss coming in overtime to Hazelwood Central 14-7 in overtime. Thus, the Crusaders were undefeated against Illinois teams. DeKalb finished its season at 11-2.

In other state football championship games Friday and Saturday, Altonwood Hammond won the Class 1A championship with a 17-16 win over Lexington. Dunville Schlarman won the 2A title 21-6 over Ambloy. Morris crushed previously unbeaten Harrisburg 40-0 in the 3A title game. Chicago Mt. Carmel beat Hinsdale South 15-10 in the 5A title game and Gordon Tech beat Reavis 6-0 for the 6A championship.

Cougars settle for fourth-place tie

EDWARDSVILLE — The Lady Cougars of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville had to settle for one-fourth of a four-way tie for ninth-place in their hosting of the 1980 AIAW Division II field hockey championships.

SIUUE met the number one seeded Southwest Missouri State University in the opening round. SMS handed SIUE a birth in the consolation rounds with their 3-0 victory against the Cougars.

In that contest, SIUE only had three shots on goal and two penalty corners. Cathy Biondo, SIUE's keeper, made 18 saves from SMS's 24 shots on goal. Kathy Schubert scored twice and Ann Leonard scored the other SMS goal.

In the second round of the tournament, SIUE beat Lehigh University 2-1 in the consolation. Even though SIUE was outshot 12-10, the Cougars advanced to the quarterfinals of the consolation.

Lehigh scored first courtesy of Andy Weir assisted by Diane Villwock. Lehigh also took 13 long corners and 4 penalty corners. Brenda Sims made three saves for Lehigh.

Laura McKee, of Granite City, opened SIUE's scoring in the quarterfinal game. Then two

LaSalle wins championship

EDWARDSVILLE — LaSalle College, of Philadelphia, won the 1980 AIAW Division II field hockey crown here at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, Saturday by defeating the 1979 champions of Southwest Missouri State U., 3-2.

LaSalle started the tournament as fourth seed. They beat Northeastern U. 3-1 in the opening round. Then the Explorers downed Eastern Illinois 1-0 to advance. In the third round, LaSalle defeated the surprise team of the tour-namment, the U. of Denver, 3-0. That put LaSalle into the finals by beating the host SIUE Cougars 3-0 in the premier game of the first round. Then SMS whipped Davidson College 5-0. In the semifinals, Southwest Missouri State blanked Ithaca College 1-0.

Ithaca College took third place in the tournament by whipping up on Denver 3-1. Ithaca had been playing strong with scores of 4-0 and 7-0 until they met SMS in the semi's.

minutes into the second half, Pat Almond on an assist from Amy Frey put the Cougars on top. SIUE also took three penalty corners and six long corners. Biondo made eight saves.

In the quarterfinal game of the consolation bracket, SIUE met Eastern Illinois University for the third time this year. SIUE stayed with EIU the whole game. The game was scoreless until the last minute and a half. When everyone was talking of overtime, Granite City's Donna Macios scored for EIU.

That goal fired up SIUE and they almost tied the score with a few seconds left on the clock. In front of the EIU goal, the Cougar offense dominated play. A SIUE player crossed the ball in from the mouth of the goal towards Almond, who was alone on the other side of the goal. Even the EIU keeper was on the wrong side.

Almond swung for it and just missed as the timer informed the referees that the contest was over.

Even though SIUE lost that game, they did not lose financially. EIU had plainly dominated their earlier games with SIUE. In this one, SIUE gave Eastern a run for their money. This was the only game in which SIUE had outshot their opponents in the tournament. Southern fired 12 shots on goal and Eastern only took two. Both keepers, Becky Legrande of Eastern and Biondo made one save. SIUE took 10 penalty corners and no long ones. Eastern took six penalty corners and a long one.

Colgate University met U. of North Dakota in the finals of the consolation bracket for fifth-place. Colgate won easily 2-0.

North Dakota beat EIU to get to the consolation finals and Colgate defeated Northeastern EIU and Northeastern, then tied for seventh-place in the tourney.

SIUE loses two key members of their 1980 squad by graduation. Pat Almond and Amy Frey were seniors this season.

Spencer, Boyd add 'oomph' to lineup

By TOM SCHOCKER of the Press-Record

EAST ST. LOUIS — The Granite City South girls volleyball team advanced to the Sectional Tournament in Collinsville with nothing but an awesome display of strength. When you look to find that certain one-two punch that makes the Warriors tough, and it really is a solid punch, look no further than Chris Boyd and Karen Spencer.

South won the right to the Collinsville tournament by literally stomping East St. Louis Lincoln in straight games Thursday. Whenever the Warriors needed key points or any points, for that matter, Boyd was called on to put another crease in the floor with her forceful spikes.

In game one, Boyd delivered eight thundering drives over the net. Five of them were point winners. But in the crucial second contest, she could not be matched. Ten blasts found their way to the floor or stinging off the opponent arms, when they dared tried catching up with them. The display was too much for Lincoln.

You might ask, where does Spencer come in the picture. Well, if it weren't for her perfect sets of the ball, Boyd might never have gotten the chance to destroy the Tigers.

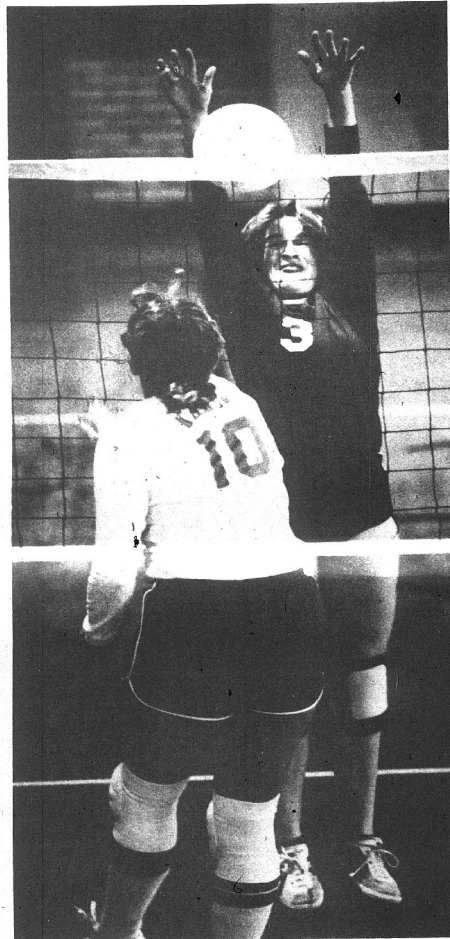

Of course, there were other members on the team that produced good opportunities for Boyd, but Spencer just seems to have the natural setting knack.

"We go to her (Boyd) a lot," said Spencer. "We even try as much as possible to get her the ball."

Sometimes, when we see the defense shifting to her side to try the block, we go to one of the other spikers. But we have a lot of confidence in Chris, so we give her ball."

The Warriors trust in Boyd is so sure, that even a shift in defense did not deter them from setting her up for the kill. In one incident during the emotion-filled second game against Lincoln, Boyd attempted to sign her seal on the Tiger team with another blow. Lincoln was ready, however, and blocked to smash back into the South court. The Warriors made a quick recovery and Spencer gave Boyd the ball again. She did not miss a second time.

"Sometimes I think they depend on me a lot," said Boyd. "I don't think I can carry the team, it just happened that way against Lincoln." With every point that warden the distance between South and Lincoln, adrenalin seemed to be increasing within the Warriors and Boyd. It showed after each driving point by her, that kept getting harder and harder.

"We were really psyched up for this game," said Boyd.

Steamers blast Baltimore in opener

By PETE HAYES Sports Editor of the Press-Record

ST. LOUIS — The St. Louis Steamers were up to their old tricks here Thursday night — they packed the Checkerdome, the were introduced to the cheering crowd with disco music playing in the background. It was all there — the steam, the roses, the excitement of indoor soccer. There also was something there that wasn't there much last season — a victory.

The Steamers opened the season with a convincing 6-1 victory over the Baltimore Blast, which last season advanced to the Major Indoor Soccer League championship series at the Houston Summit.

But Thursday was the only star of the game.

Led by newcomer Denny Vaninger's three goal hat trick, St. Louis was never in trouble. Last season, Vaninger watched the Steamers on TV. "Last year as a fan, I got excited," he said. "I got my adrenalin flowing. I got a natural high just watching a game."

But Vaninger didn't do much watching. Thursday night he was in the thick of the action. His first goal came at the 14:33 mark of the first quarter and gave the Steamers a 1-0 lead. The assist went to Tony Glavin.

But Vaninger wasn't the only star of the game. There was another newcomer — Steamer goalie Slobodan Iljevski made 20 saves, no less than 10 of which were pure major league variety. His efforts didn't unnoticed. As he emerged from the shower after the game, his teammates started chanting, "Slo-bo! Slo-bo! Slo-bo!" The Yugoslavian just grinned.

"I am really happy," he said in broken English. "The game is so quick. Outdoor soccer, you make one, maybe two saves every 90 minutes. Here, every second you must be ready."

To put it plainly, the Steamers' power play was awesome Thursday. All six of their goals came with a Baltimore player sitting in the penalty box. "I don't care how we scored them," said Steamer rookie Don Elbert. "We won. That's the important thing, isn't it?"

Vaninger's second goal came on an assist from another newcomer, John Strenlau, who beat the Blast defense, passed off the ball to Vaninger, who let the Baltimore goalie commit himself and then simply nudged the ball behind him into the net.

Vaninger was also in on the Steamers' third goal. He passed from yet another new face, Greg Makowski, who boomed a shot in from about 20 yards away into the upper right-hand corner of the goal.

Other Steamer goals were scored by Glavin, Vaninger (his third) and Makowski (his second). Baltimore scored once in the second quarter and twice in the first half.

The attendance at the game was 15,310, the seventh-largest crowd in MISL history.

'Granite City Connection' propelling Alabama squad

Former South stars hope to bring title to Dixie

By LARRY EAKES
for the Press-Record
HUNTSVILLE—The University of Alabama in Huntsville soccer team is enjoying its finest season ever as the Chargers have been ranked No. 1 in the nation (N.A.I.A.) for the last seven weeks. UAH currently sports an undefeated 11-0-2 record with the Area Five playoffs just ahead.

A lot of the credit for UAH's tremendous success has to go to a town in Illinois called Granite City. No less than five of the Chargers hail from Granite City and they have definitely made a contribution to the UAH program.

The "Granite City Connection" is made up of three former Granite City South High players: Fernandez, Greg Feigl, Joe Thies, Fred Schuler and John Pragma, all of whom have been starters at one time or the other this year.

All five are graduates of Granite City South.

Fernandez, named All-American last year, has missed five matches this season but has still contributed three assists to the cause. As a senior, he has delivered a leadership quality to this team all season whether he was playing or not. Fernandez is healthy again and ready for the playoffs.

Feigl led UAH in scoring last year with 19 goals and currently has 13 goals (three game winners) and four assists to pace the UAH attack. He now has 45 career goals, with another season still to come, and he will definitely have a shot at the career scoring record currently held by senior Ian Harding with 61.

Thies, a talented fullback, has returned after missing last season and once again has displayed exceptional ability. A gutsy performer, Joe spearheads a UAH defense that is as good as any in the nation.

Schuler, nicknamed "The Tank," has scored six goals this year as a part-time starter. He has two seasons remaining as a Charger and already he has established himself as one of UAH's most feared shooters.

Pragma has scored one goal, and it was a game winner, and has contributed an assist so far this year. A sometime starter, John has proven that he has the talent and the skills to play well against anybody.

UAH COACH, Dr. Oslap Strombecky, who always has high praise for the talented quintet commented, "These young men are solid soccer players in every phase of the game. That speaks well of their training in Granite City. They perform consistently in every game and obviously we couldn't have had the year we've had without them."

UAH wrapped up its regular season with a unanimous first place national ranking in the N.S.I.A.'s final 1980 poll. The Chargers enter their area playoffs on November 18, as they begin their quest for their fourth appearance at the national tournament in five years.

This year, the nationals will again be held in Springfield, Illinois at Sangamon State University. One thing is for certain, if UAH indeed makes it to Springfield, there will be a large contingent of Granite City fans there to welcome them.

Local star at Peru St.

PERU — Three former Granite City South High graders had a hand in an excellent 9-1 spring for the Peru State College (Neb.) Bobcats, according to Peru State Coach Jerry Joy. The trio include Larry Reed, Todd McFarland, and Steve Adams.

Peru State was ranked ninth in the final National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA) regular-season poll. The Bobcats barely missed the 1980 NAIA national championship playoffs, despite the finest season in 28 years on the Peru State campus. The top eight ranked NAIA teams were selected for the playoffs.

Reed earned all 10 games for the Bobcats and helped Peru State break school records for rushing yards, passing yards and total yards. Reed is the son of Paul and Cordelia Tisworth of 2722 Myrtle Street, St. Louis, a 1980 graduate of South High, where he earned one letter.

McFarland was equally impressive in his eight appearances for the Bobcats. The 6-4, 210-pound tight end was the number six pass receiver, with seven catches for 57 yards and one touchdown. He is expected to jump into the starting lineup next season with the graduation of senior starter Rick Neubauer. McFarland, a 79 grad of South, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William A. McFarland of 3244 Willow.

Adams, a 5-9, 160-pound running back, had the misfortune to play behind Alvin Holder, and was limited action in 1980. Holder rushed for over 1,000 yards to lead the NAIA with an average of 178.3-yards rushing per game, and is almost assured of All-American honors.

Adams, an '80 South High graduate, will get another chance to display his talents for the Bobcats, as he is being heavily counted on as a pole vaulter on the Peru State track team. Steve is the son of Mrs. Freda Tucker, 3909 Kirkpatrick.

hitting a wall. "Everytime there was a problem, we got pushed back a little more," said Walker.

The Tigers tried to resolve their problems by going to the bench, but that didn't help, either. "It's difficult to play a good strong game with seven or eight players," said Walker. "Substitutes hurt. We have never really had six people that could play a constant game. We had to sub, too. I was just counting on them to come through."

Even at the point when Lincoln was on the brink of turning the match around, the Warriors held together amidst "the noise of the crowd." "If I had sensed them (South) losing their composure, I would have called a time-out," said Schulze. "But they hung in there and I knew they would do all right. They played a beautiful match."

One big barrier has been torn down for the Warriors. (It was South's second consecutive district championship.) The next plateau to be reached awaits them tonight in Collinsville.

Steamers

The Steamers controlled things for most of the game, but Denver made good use of what little scoring opportunity it had. The Steamers outshot the Avalanche 79-49.

But St. Louis had to rally from being two goals behind twice. The Steamers trailed at halftime 3-1. But Ebert scored his first goal and another former SIUE player, John Stremelau scored on a power play — and St. Louis had tied the score 3-3. Back came Denver.

Denver's Tim Walters scored when Steamer goalie Slob Jijevski juggled a loose ball to make it 4-3. Then Tony Vaccaro scored to make it 5-3.

St. Louis defeated Denver easily 10-4 in an exhibition game this season. "But I told the team in a meeting Friday that the 10-4 score meant nothing," said McBride. "But it was in the back of our minds."

But Emilio Romero and Ebert came right back for the Steamers and tied the score again, setting up Makowski's heroics.

Makowski's goal was typical of his style. He boomed the shot from about 20 yards out from the left side side of the goal. It found its way through a maze of players and into the upper right hand corner of the goal, just inside the far post.

Denny Vaninger, who scored three goals in Thursday's opening game victory over Baltimore, scored the Steamers' first goal of the game.

Volunteer work is meeting topic

Mrs. Helen Bergfield, known in the Quad-City area as civic and community volunteer worker, was the featured speaker at the North High School Future Secretaries meeting last week held at the school.

Preceding her talk a short business meeting was conducted by President Elaine Koesterer.

Mrs. Bergfield summarized the typical female's life: graduating from school, getting a job, getting married, and having children. Through most of these stages of life an individual is too involved with other things to find time to spare for others. It is when the babies grow into young children and start needing adults to help them with their various organizations in which they become active that starts the volunteer on a lifelong career.

The starting point for Mrs. Bergfield occurred when her niece, Shirley Haven Huffstutler, was a Girl Scout, and her troop couldn't go away to summer camp for a week unless there was an adult along. When Shirley approached her aunt, Mrs. Bergfield's first problem was whether or not she'd be able to get the time away from her job. It was prior to the time of paid vacations for workers. Her boss agreed to let her be absent and off she went, along with the little Girl Scouts. That first step led her into an active 25-year period of helping with the Girl Scouts, from one level to a higher level, including eight years as Girl Scout Commissioner.

Mrs. Bergfield told about some of the other ways in which she and other adults have gotten involved, in PTA, in church work, in school organizations such as band and FSA, and in hospitals, which led her to her present most time-consuming and enjoyable task - being part of the Women's Auxiliary at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

It was during a time of illness in Mrs. Bergfield's own life, and a stay in the hospital, that started her thinking of ways that a volunteer could help do things that the busy nurses and aids just didn't have the time for. She resolved then that when she got back on her feet again she was going to do her part to help make things a bit more pleasant for all the sick people there. And she did. It started out very simply - working on the information desk - and it has ended up with her being involved in the very heart of all that involves SEMC Women's Auxiliary, from its very beginning to the present.

The volunteers were content to help the patients, bringing them juice and toast in the evenings at their request, and strengthening up their night tables. Then they thought it might be a good idea to start a little stand where the visitors could purchase soda, coffee, and such items. From an $8 per day business they have kept enlarging and growing, with almost entirely volunteer help which does all the work.

To the volunteers' present coffee and gift shop, grossing hundreds of times the amount they did in the beginning.

The auxiliary uses the profits from their business to buy needed equipment for SEMC to help make the medical center one of the best, so local people can get the help they need in this community instead of having to go to an out of town hospital.

In addition to the coffee and gift shop, the Women's Auxiliary also supervises the rental of televisions to patients. The volunteer students known as Candy Strippers also come under their supervision. Mrs. Bergfield, in her discussions with students after the meeting, told them that they could find out how they could be a part of this group by calling or visiting the hospital, and asking for details. Organizations are always eagerly awaiting more help, whether it is SEMC, Girl Scouts or church, and all an individual would need to do is to contact someone in the organization and express an interest.

It is not only for the benefit of helping others that an individual needs to get involved in volunteer work, but also for the reward one gets personally from this involvement. Mrs. Bergfield said. In closing, she cited an experience from 1929, during the depression, when she encountered a little old man on the street, who had apparently just bought himself a "stale" which is what old bread was known as in those days. He was so hungry he was eating on it while it was still in the sack, and ended up dropping the sack and the bread.

Mrs. Bergfield stopped to ask him, and he looked so hungry that she gave him 50c. At that he asked her if she were a school teacher, and she told him she was not, and asked why did he think that. He said "I thought you must be a school teacher because you are so good."

That incident, although costing very little in time or money, has stayed with her throughout her lifelong career of volunteering, and is still a warming memory.

She urged the girls that when the time in their lives came that they could devote some of their time in helping others, to take advantage of the opportunity as it would be a warm experience for them, growing with each passing day.

In addition to the SEMC Women's Auxiliary and other organizations, Mrs. Bergfield is concluding a two-year term as president of this area's Association of Retired Persons (AARP) which has over 500 members.

Also present at the meeting was NSA representative, Charlene Vunovic, and FSA faculty advisor, Mrs. Linda Haddock, who announced that the next meeting of the chapter would be in February.

Q. I've always thought the idea of earning a little money on the balance in my checking account was a good one. Now that the government has given the green light to interest-bearing checking accounts, why has the starting date been put off to next year?

A. First of all, the law enabling banks to pay interest on checking accounts does not become effective until January 1, 1981, which means that NOW accounts cannot be legally offered until then. That delay, however, is appropriate because there is considerable planning and organization which goes into such a major service. Banks, first of all, have to use the time to decide whether or not to offer NOW accounts, since it is an optional service. There are also interest rates to be considered (a bank may determine what interest rate it will pay, although 5% percent is the top rate by law), as well as records, processing, printing, and many other major considerations. Check with your banker to determine whether NOW accounts will be beneficial in your particular situation.

Officiating at the double ring service at 7 p.m. was Chaplain David Copeland before an altar decorated with arrangements of red and white carnations interspersed with baby's breath.

Wedding music included, "Chopin Nocturne," "One Hand, One Heart," "Wedding Song," and "More."

The bride is the daughter of Bob Black, 2211 Charles St., and Mrs. Lorraine Wilkins, 4532 Walters Ave. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Bill Revelle, 4921 Willow Lane.

For her wedding, the bride wore an ivory gown with lace trim accenting the neckline and cuffs of the long sleeves.

The back of the skirt was created with tiers of ruffles which encircled the hemline. She wore a shoulder length lace bordered veil and held a Bible topped with a cluster of silk red roses and trailing streamers.

Miss Barbara Wilkins, a sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids included Miss Cathy Black, another sister, and Gloria Harrison, the groom's sister.

They selected full length dresses in burgundy organza designed with pleated skirts and complemented with matching lace capes.

Each attendant wore a headpiece created with red roses and ivory baby's breath and they held pink lace fans with a red silk rose and baby's breath attached.

Flower girls were Rachael Tolliver and Jessica Revelle, daughters of the bride and groom, respectively.

Each wore a halo of baby's breath in their hair and carried white lace baskets with red rose petals.

A reception was held immediately following the service at the Airman's Club at Scott AFB and the rehearsal dinner was hosted at Ravanelli's Restaurant, by the groom's parents.

A WORD TO THE ENERGY-WISE ABOUT COMFORT

What's the wind-chill factor at your back door?

Running a lighted match around doors and windows quickly shows where you need caulking or weatherstripping.

Over a period of time, even a small draft can add up to a big waste of energy. Make the openings in your home weathertight and you'll take a heavy load off your heating system.

Your biggest energy savings are made by installing insulation in the ceiling, walls and above unheated crawl spaces. Insulation to the high standards recommended today is a prime investment in comfort and energy conservation.

In Illinois, there can be energy enough for all our needs if we will all use it wisely.

We have a free illustrated manual on insulation and other weatherproofing ideas that's yours for the asking at our office.

Thanksgiving tradition— cooperation, unity, tolerance

Thanksgiving Day proclamation by President Jimmy Carter:

"The greatest bounty of our nation is the bounty of our heritage—our diversity as immigrants and descendants of immigrants, our common identity as Americans.

"We have set aside one day a year to give thanks for all that we have. Yet, Thanksgiving is more than just a day for celebration. It is also a commemoration—of the day America's earliest inhabitants sat down to table with European colonists.

"That occasion was historic, not only because it established a national holiday, but because it marked the start of a national tradition of cooperation, unity and tolerance.

"Even in times of trial and frustration, we have much to be thankful for in our personal lives and in our nation.

"As we pause on Thanksgiving to offer thanks to God, we should not forget that we also owe thanks to this country's forefathers who had the vision to join together in Thanksgiving and who gave us so much of the vision of brotherhood that is ours today.

"I, Jimmy Carter, president of the United States of America, do proclaim Thursday, the 27th of November, 1980, as Thanksgiving Day.

"I call upon all the people of our nation to give thanks on that day for the blessings Almighty God has bestowed upon us, and to join the fervent prayer of George Washington, who as president asked God to impart all the blessings we possess or ask for ourselves to the whole family of mankind."

JON TEAGUE, of American Heritage Bank, in role of interviewing prospective employees at a meeting of the Future Secretaries Association, South High School. FSA members, foreground, Elizabeth Baldwin and Margaret Rowane, and Elena Ortiz, standing, participated in the mock interviews.

Job interviews is chapter program

Jon Teague, auditor and assistant cashier at American Heritage Bank, told members of Future Secretaries Association at Granite City High School South that one of the main things someone looks for when conducting an interview is appearance. He stressed that the individual is a little more serious about actually wanting a job.

In addition to appearance, Teague stated that he liked to see that an applicant had confidence and was not afraid to talk, one who actually listened to the questions which were asked and answered with more than just a "yes" or "no".

Another thing he advised the future secretaries was to go for the job interview alone, as if detracted from an individual's evaluation if they had a relative along when being interviewed. The guest speaker emphasized that when listing references, one should not misinterpret what is meant when the form states that former employers should not be listed. This means that the name of the company should not be listed, but it is quite permissible, in fact it is to the applicant's advantage, if the former supervisor is listed as reference. This gives the interviewer a good idea about performance on the former job.

In closing, Teague advised the girls to go on as many job interviews as possible while they are still in school as the experience will help them to feel more at ease, and to be specific when asked the salary range they desire.

Elizabeth Baldwin and Margaret Rowane were chosen from the audience to participate in the mock interviews, and both were classified as good prospects, Teague said.

The business meeting was conducted by Vice-President Baldwin in the absence of President Judy Weller, who was in the hospital undergoing surgery. Roll call was conducted by Recording Secretary Loreta Rulledge, who also read the minutes of the previous meeting.

Faculty advisor Pat Allen announced that for the first time in the history of the chapter, new members would be initiated at the beginning of the new semester in 1981, in order to accommodate those students who became eligible for membership after previous invitations were extended.

Educational meetings in 1981 include a self-defense demonstration, FSA Olympics between GHS South and North, a field trip, senior day in the office, and the awards banquet in May at Charlie's Restaurant.

Although no educational meeting is scheduled for December, the members voted to hold a Christmas party on Monday, Dec. 8, at 7 p.m. Further details will be announced early in December.

Oasis Center-Alpha Eta topic

Louise Sheary of Edwardsville, Alpha Eta president, was in charge of the business session during which Agnes Fryntko of Granite City and Martha Moenow of Edwardsville, both past presidents of the chapter, were honored.

Members agreed to hold the annual Christmas tea on Dec. 6. Others attending from Granite City, besides those mentioned, were Elizabeth Briggs, Mary Friday, Pat Gowna, Martha Glinkos, Lucinda Huck, Anne Johnson, Kathleen Palchaff, Elsie Mayhath, Dorothy Mitchell, Vivian Raffaele and Hazel Towery.

Mrs. Mary Ellen Johnson of East Alton reviewed the services available at the Oasis Center for Women at last week's meeting of Alpha Eta Chapter, Delta Kappa Gamma Society, held at the Stratford Hotel in Alton.

Mrs. Johnson, a teacher at Granite City High School South, serves as volunteer public relations director for the women's center.

Following her talk, a silent auction was conducted with the proceeds donated to the center.

Serving as hostesses at the luncheon meeting were Muriel Kraiz and Louise Dexheimer, both of Granite City.

Catalogs help pocketbook

If the chill in the autumn air has you scouting the news for the best price on fireplace logs or looking ahead to doing some holiday shopping up, the fall edition of the "Consumer Information Catalog," with its list of more than 200 free or low-cost publications, ranging from "Heating With Wood" and "Firewood for Your Fireplace" to "Holiday Decorations Made With Plant Materials" and "A Winter Hazard for the Old: Accidental Hypothermia," in addition to federal, state and winter-related pamphlets, the catalog lists a number of other booklets on a variety of concerns to consumers.

The "Consumers Resource Handbook," a free, 76-page listing of federal, state and local agencies and organizations involved with handling complaints and advice on making effective complaints, may be of special interest to those bracing themselves for holiday shopping spree.

Johnny Gilmore marks birthday

Johnny Gilmore celebrated his seventh birthday with a party held at McDonald's Restaurant hosted by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Gilmore, 264 Fountainbleau.

Games were played and prizes awarded to Lisa Thompson and Steven Miller.

Others attending the late afternoon dinner were Leslie Thompson, Jeffrey and Mindy Stephens, Paul Bagby, Darlene Winkle, Melissa Barnhart, Jeff Seitz, Todd and Torey Pryor, and Jim and Debbie Thompson.

An evening party was held to honor the youngster in the Gilmore home. Guests included Christy Gilmore, the honoree's sister, Steve and Cathy McCluskey, Jim and Debbie Thompson, Carol and Chuck West, Pat and Ron McAttee, Lisa and Leslie Thompson and Ray and Lorraine Gilmore, grandparents of the guest of honor.

A Tom and Jerry theme was carried out on the dining table and a dessert course was served by the hosts.

Area site for lengthy nurse examinations

The registered professional nurse examination, administered by the Illinois Department of Registration and Education, will be given at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville in July 1981.

The test is scheduled for Thursday, July 8, and Friday, July 9, in the Meridian ballroom of the university center from 7:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. each day.

"As you can see from the hours that these aspiring nurses must devote to the test that will be the determining factor in their future careers, this is an extremely burdensome experience," Vadalabene noted.

With the cooperation of SIUE President Earl Lazerson and Gary L. Clayton, acting director of the department of Registration and Education, we have been able to secure a more convenient and accessible location for the exam for those who reside in Southern Illinois.

"It is a good example of the state attempting to be responsive to honest human concerns, and I am delighted to have been a part of the process of arranging this."

"Many hospital and nursing school administrators have advised me of the resulting lowering of costs for institutions and those who must take the examination," Vadalabene said.

"All citizens recognize the importance of the best possible nursing care, and anything we can do to facilitate the process of professional accreditation serves an urgent public need."

"Nurses must study long and hard to prepare themselves for careers that are crucial to our health and welfare. It is the least we can do to accommodate them in this way."

Blocked crossing leads to citation

Granite City police have signed a complaint against the Norfolk & Western Railroad for allegedly blocking the Niedeberg Avenue rail crossing, one of only two crossings now open between West Granite and the downtown area, from 11:31 to 11:54 a.m. Friday.

Detective Kip Pomeroy noticed the crossing was blocked by a train at 11:31 a.m. and asked a police dispatcher to notify the railroad 12 minutes later.

The train moved a short distance at 11:48, but stopped, still blocking the crossing. Pomeroy said. Finally, at 11:54 a.m. the crossing was cleared, Pomeroy alleged.

He signed the complaint alleging violation of state law by blocking a crossing too long.

Laureate ceremony at House chambers

The Sixth Annual Lincoln Academy Student Laureate Award Ceremony, recognizing outstanding students from 54 colleges and universities in Illinois, will be held Dec. 13 at 11 a.m. in the House of Representatives chamber in the Capitol Building.

Governor James R. Thompson, president of the Lincoln Academy, will present the "Medallion of Lincoln" and the 100-hour honorarium to each student.

Students are chosen as Lincoln Academy Student Laureates by the chief executive officer of each four-year degree-granting college and university in Illinois.

They are selected on the basis of academic achievement, extracurricular activities, ability to overcome obstacles to achieve their goals, and overall contribution to the school in the course of obtaining an education.

This year's program will include a musical performance by children, aged 3-14, from the Suzuki Academy of the Performing Arts under the direction of Betty Haag, director of the academy. The specially trained young musicians are scheduled to open the 1980 World Music Festival in

Gun fired in tavern

Madison police are searching for a young man who fired a shot from a gun into the ceiling of Boshoff's Tavern, 1401 Madison Ave., Madison, at 11:25 p.m. Friday and then left in a car with two other young men and a young woman.

When Madison officers first responded to the tavern on a report of a fight, they reported the owner and several patrons were pointing at a car which was leaving the tavern. Officers stopped the car, questioned the four occupants and then released them, when the four said they did not need any help.

The officer then returned to the tavern to investigate the fight and were told by the bartender that one of the men in the car had been involved in a fight and had fired a shot into the ceiling before leaving.

A description of the car was broadcast to all area police departments, along with a warning the occupants may be armed, but the vehicle was not immediately located, according to official reports.

HIT-AND-RUN CHARGE

Steven Reed, 22, of 2115a Benton St., was charged with leaving the scene of an auto accident after his auto allegedly struck the parked auto of Rickie Lipe, 2180a Adams St., in the 2100 block of Adams Street at 8 p.m. Saturday. Witnesses described the hit-and-run auto to police, who searched the area and found a maroon car with fresh damage to it behind Hook's Tavern, 21st and Adams streets. Reed was arrested in the tavern, police said.

Happy Thanksgiving

Long ago on a brisk clear day in a sheltered, wooded clearing, a harvest feast, a humble meal of wild turkey and Indian corn, was shared by native and newcomer.

With this act of sharing of the harvest of a bountiful land, began the tradition of a feast of Thanksgiving, a tradition carried on through the years.

Today, in observation of this commemorative day of Thanksgiving, we shall be gathered together again in thanks for the blessings of a land bestowed upon a people and shared by a people, as it once was and is now.

Swiss Watch

MARIN, Switzerland—Watches can be made significantly thinner, less expensive and assembly procedures can be mostly automated using a new, tiny combination metal-plastic base plate.

The base plate supports all other components in electronic watches with moving hands. Using Ryton polyphenylene sulfide plastic saved 50 cutting operations.

Swiss watches can now, for the first time in several years, offer traditional quality at competitive prices with other worldwide manufacturers, Ebauches Electroniques here reports.†

Hogan's Heroes

Local People

KNOXVILLE, Tenn.

—A 30-second TV commercial often takes two hours of videotape shooting, said Joseph P. Hogan, president of an advertising agency here. "That's 240 seconds of tape shot for every one second used."

A recent commercial shot by Hogan for prime time TV this fall was recently completed in Knoxville for Cabin Crafts Carpets. The casting director used a retired Presbyterian minister, an insurance company president, a telephone company employee, a pizza maker and two students to be nattily tuxedoed carpet salesmen. All were local people.

The star of the commercial was Melody Rogers, seen in camera commercials with Bruce Jenner and in various soap operas. Hogan chose Rogers because of her national experience and because he worked with her before.

"Commercials are fun and they pay well, but I really want to do a feature film," Rogers said. Four years ago in Shelby, N.C. she did make a film entitled "Hooch!" "Hooch" has yet to be released. "I hope no one ever sees it!", she confided.†
